The China Center for Business Cooperation and Coordination

(http://www.chinasme.org.cn/index_e.asp), operates under the authority of China's National Development and Reform Commission. The Center, as it is known in China, is charged with promotion and development of Small and Medium Enterprises (SME) within China and the development of international cooperation to encourage investment within China and abroad. The Center's main task is to connect the various regions and departments of the Chinese government in charge of SME-related development with foreign businesses for advancement of small and medium enterprises in China.

The Second Sino-U.S. SME Investment Forum in 2008 will provide an opportunity for exchange and matchmaking between SMEs and investment funds from both the United States and China and facilitate conditions for SMEs in China to seek financing channels, integrate into the global market and participate in international business. This is an excellent opportunity for US companies to begin developing contacts with potential Chinese business partners.
